October Weddings

Turner-Phillips.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Phillips was the scene of a very pretty marriage, Tuesday, October 18th, when their daughter, Miss Lula, one of our most accomplished young ladies, became the bride of Mr. Geo. W. Turner, a popular young man of near Belle Haven.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. H. Moss, was artistically decorated with palms, ferns and other potted plants. The bride wore a traveling suit of blue broad cloth and carried white roses.

The bride's attendants were Miss Laura S. Mapp, Miss Ethel Turner, sister of the groom, Miss Sallie Joynes, Miss Mabel Kellam and Miss Eva Walkley. The groomsmen were: Mr. James Turner, Mr. John Mears, Dr. Sydney Kellam, Mr. Will LeCato and Mr. Will Kellam. Mendelssohn's wedding march was very skillfully played by Miss Linda Ayres.

After an elegant dinner was served this young couple, who have our best wishes for a long and happy life, left on South bound train for St. Louis Exposition. Many handsome presents were received.

Guest.

Crockett-White.

Mr. Harry S. Crockett, of this county, and Miss Lula R. White, of Moback, Matthews county, Va., were united in marriage by Rev. J. V. Enzor, Thursday, at 3 p. m., October 13th, 1904, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. R. Hudgins, on Druid Hill Avenue, Baltimore, Md.

In the presence of a few of the bride's friends, Mrs. L. B. Boyce, Mrs. Geo. L. Brown, Miss Nellie Faymeyer and Mrs. Hudgins, sister of the bride.

With many best wishes and congratulations the happy couple left by the steamer Pocomoke at 5 p. m., enroute for the groom's home, near Cashville, their future home.

Blackstone Institute.

The eleventh session of the Blackstone Institute opened with every place in the building engaged. At least fifty more students could have been accommodated there. For several years past it has been necessary to make early application in order to secure a place in this, the largest private school for girls in Virginia.

The enrollment in the building department the present session is about 250, and the usual list of day scholars brings the total up to over 300. It is a striking fact in connection with this school that its work is so highly appreciated by the parents of Virginia that no canvassing and little advertising is done outside of the State, and the rooms are all practically filled with Virginia girls. This section has its usual fine representation.

Funeral of Capt. Wm. H. Green.

Capt. Wm. H. Green, whose death was reported last week, was buried Thursday, at his home near Mappesville, after funeral services conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. A. Harriman, of the Methodist Protestant Church.

He died in his eightieth year. His wife and three children, Mr. James M. Green and Mrs. C. A. Hart, of this county, and Mrs. F. E. Hudson, of Stockton, Md., survive him.

Millinery.

I have just returned home from Baltimore with a full line of Fall millinery goods, and I cordially invite the public to examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Yours very respectfully, Mrs. Bettie Martin, Pangotague, Va.

I have just returned from the city with a large and select line of millinery goods and notions, including an especially fine collection of ribbons, and extend a cordial invitation to everyone to call and inspect same.

An experienced milliner will arrive on Monday to assist in waiting on customers.

Mrs. V. S. Lang, Accomac C. H.

After a two weeks soj
